NAFSA Peer-to-Peer Perspectives : Restarting Education Abroad

One of the most challenging decisions facing education abroad professionals today is when to “re-open” study abroad programs and student mobility. There is no right answer to the question of when; each institution will need to review mobility options based on established and emerging policies and parameters.

Join your peers during this NAFSA event for a lively discussion about the factors to consider in the return to travel abroad.

May 6, 2021 10:00 am - 12:00 pm

Presenters:

- Chris Cook, Assoc. Director, International Travel Health & Safety, Cornell University
- Andrea Drake, Director of International Health, Safety, and Security, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, and Coordinator of Health & Safety in Education Abroad, EAKC
